

Press Release

Rialto Voted Top 20% Preferred Interim Provider by the Institute of Interim Management Survey.

The Rialto Consultancy is pleased to announce that the IIM (Institute of Interim Management) survey recognises that Rialto provides organisations with the most talented interim professionals available in the market. This has been demonstrated by being voted one of the top 20% preferred interim providers by the IIM's 2010 Interim Management's survey - over 4,000 votes were submitted by senior industry professionals as to which organisation they favoured as their preferred interim provider.

As part of the organisation's rapid expansion, Annabel Lewis-Grey has recently been appointed Head of Rialto Interim. Her role involves further expanding the interim team in order to meet the growing demands of selecting and deploying superior Interim Managers, which Rialto provides to a broad range of private and public sector clients.

Commenting on the results of the survey Annabel said, "The IIM survey acknowledges that we provide excellent Interim Managers with considerable operating experience combined with effective market insight, all of whom deliver outstanding results for projects undertaken on behalf of our clients."
